Academic Traditions

The Commencement Setting — The 2007 ceremonies marked the first graduations to take place in Oswego's Marano Campus Center. Located in the heart of campus, the Marano Campus Center represents the college's social hub and a gathering place for events appealing to a wide range of student, faculty and community interests. This $25.5 million building was the first new construction on our lakeside campus in 35 years when it opened in the fall of 2006.

The Academic Procession — The centuries-old pageantry of the academic procession dates from ancient traditions rooted in the early universities. Since the clergy were in charge of the first academic ceremonies, they followed the familiar order of religious processions.

The Tradition of Academic Attire — Caps, gowns and hoods worn at college and university functions date from the Middle Ages. Monks and students of that time wore them to keep warm in the damp, drafty halls of learning. From these practical origins they have developed into the accepted garb which symbolizes scholarly achievement.

Baccalaureate gowns have a long, pleated front with shirring across the shoulders and back. They are primarily distinguished by flowing sleeves pointed at the fingertips. These gowns may be worn open or closed.

The master's gown is worn open and the sleeve is cut so that the forearm comes through a slit just above the elbow. The lining of the hood is satin and the color represents the school conferring the degree. The velvet border color represents the discipline in which the degree was earned.

Doctoral gowns are traditionally worn open, but either open or closed is acceptable. They carry broad, velvet panels down the front and three velvet bars on the full, round sleeves. This velvet trimming may be either black or the color distinctive of the degree. Mortarboards or caps worn with baccalaureate and master's gowns generally have black tassels. The tassel of the doctoral cap is usually made of gold bullion.

The doctoral hood gives color and meaning to the academic costume. Its silk lining bears the color of the institution conferring the degree. The hood is bordered with velvet of a prescribed width and color to indicate the field of learning to which the degree pertains.

Honor Cords for Military Service — United States veterans and reserve and active duty military graduating from SUNY Oswego are wearing red, white and blue honor cords in recognition of their service.

The College Medallion is worn by the SUNY Oswego president as a symbol of authority at all official ceremonies such as Commencement and Honors Convocation. Oswego is represented in the perfect center of the medallion by a tiny green and gold circle. The dot is located properly on an outline of New York state, which itself surmounts a globe to show the relationship of our institution to the state and the world. Fashioned by Dominic T. DiPasquale of the Art Department for president James Perdue's 1966 inauguration, the medallion was a gift of the Class of 1966 for the occasion.

A wreath of gold leaves surrounds the globe and is circled by a flat band bearing the engraved college name and two dates: 1861, the college founding; and 1948, the founding of the State University of which Oswego was a charter unit. On the clasp above the medallion sits a gold lamp of knowledge, emblematic of a seat of learning. (Photo, page 1.)

The College Mace — In medieval times the mace was a weapon of offense with the metal head often heavily spiked. Today it appears chiefly in ceremonial functions of churches, governments, colleges and universities. The head of the Oswego mace holds a jade sphere symbolizing the university of wisdom and knowledge, surrounded by four silver flanges unfolding petal-like without imprisoning the sphere and representing the potential of disciplined imagination, the goal of higher education. The richness of the jade and the rosewood shaft reflect the pomp and solemnity of academic ceremony.

Officers of the College

Deborah F. Stanley
President
President Stanley is the 10th President of SUNY Oswego. Her tenure has been driven by bold and inclusive leadership and a broad vision resulting in increased academic excellence, campus renewal, and successful fundraising. Under her leadership, new programs such as electrical and computer engineering, human-computer interaction, biomedical and health informatics, and the online MBA programs were established. She pioneered the Oswego Guarantee and the $300 Graduation Return on Investment. Her ambitious campus-wide renewal plan encompasses hundreds of millions of dollars in renovations and construction, including the environmentally designated LEED Gold Shineman Center, the modernization of the college's arts building Tyler Hall; and the recently renovated Wilber Hall, marking the centralization of all School of Education departments under one, contiguous roof. She earned a baccalaureate degree with honors, and a juris doctor degree from Syracuse University.

Nicholas A. Lyons
Vice President for Administration and Finance
As SUNY Oswego's officer in charge of financial operations and facilities, Lyons has overseen 16 years of construction and renovation that have gone far in transforming the campus. He has served the State University since 1978, having worked previously as assistant vice president for administration at SUNY New Paltz, as university internal control officer and in several administrative positions at System Administration and the Research Foundation of SUNY. He holds degrees in business administration from SUNY Morrisville and SUNY Plattsburgh. At Oswego, he oversees finance, student accounts, human resources, environmental health and safety, University Police, physical plant, facilities services and construction and purchasing.

Mary Canale
Vice President for Development and Alumni Relations
Canale came to Oswego in 1996 as the coordinator of the Oswego State Fall Classic. She later became assistant director of development and, in 2002, instituted the major gifts program before becoming associate vice president for development. A 1981 alumna, Canale was integral to the success of both of the college's comprehensive fundraising campaigns as well as the Possibility and Marano Scholars programs. Appointed vice president for development and alumni relations and executive director of the Oswego College Foundation in 2016, Canale serves as the college's principal fundraiser and has helped to achieve unprecedented growth in the school's endowment, which consistently shows stronger returns than peers. She is a member of the Association of Fundraising Professionals and the Council for Advancement and Support of Education.

Scott Furlong
Provost, Vice President for Academic Affairs
The college's chief academic officer, Furlong, joined the Oswego family in July 2017. Furlong is responsible for leadership of all instructional and academic programs, overseeing more than 100 academic programs in the college's four schools with more than 550 faculty, as well as a range of academic support staff and offerings. A renowned public policy scholar and co-author of two books, Furlong previously served as dean of the College of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences at the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay, where he led and participated in many efforts to further integrate the ideals of a liberal arts education into the UW-Green Bay curriculum. He earned his bachelor of arts degree in government from St. Lawrence University, and his master of public administration and Ph.D. in political science from American University.

Jerri Howland
Vice President for Student Affairs and Enrollment Management; Dean of Students
Howland was named vice president in 2019 after serving as interim vice president for the past year. In this leadership post, she oversees all student affairs operations and activities. Howland began serving as associate vice president of student affairs and dean of students at Oswego in 2014, supervising several units including campus life (student involvement, intramurals and recreation, event management) and student conduct. She assisted in enhancing student life programming and services on campus to foster increased student success. Howland previously served as dean of students and assistant dean for campus life at Rhode Island School of Design. Her entire career has been dedicated to higher education in various student life, support and student development positions. She earned a Ph.D. in student affairs administration and research from the University of Iowa; master of arts from Southeast Missouri State University; and bachelor of science from Frostburg State University.

Rodmon C. King
Chief Diversity and Inclusion Officer
King is responsible for implementing the college's strategic diversity and inclusion goals, while leading the cultivation, enhancement and promotion of an environment of equity and inclusion for all. Working at Oswego since July 2018, he provides counsel on all matters pertaining to diversity and inclusive excellence. King previously excelled as associate vice president for academic affairs and diversity initiatives at Centre College in Kentucky. Prior to that, King was a philosophy faculty member at Hobart and William Smith Colleges in Geneva. King received his doctorate and master's degrees in philosophy from the University of Rochester and a bachelor of art degree in religion and philosophy from Roberts Wesleyan College.

Kristen Eichhorn
Dean, Graduate Studies
Eichhorn was appointed dean in July 2017 after serving the institution in several leadership roles, including Presidential Faculty Fellow, interim dean of extended learning, SUNY Faculty Senator and chair of communication studies. Eichhorn was nominated and accepted as an American Council On Education Fellow in 2016-17, spending a year in Cornell University's Office of Provost. Eichhorn has a distinguished record of teaching and research and her publications include co-authoring the "Interpersonal Communication: Building Rewarding Relationships" textbook and research papers in multiple international journals. She earned her bachelor's degree from Canisius College, master's from West Virginia University and Ph.D in communication from the University of Miami.

Patricia Clark
Interim Dean, College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, Associate Professor of English and Creative Writing
Clark has served the campus community in several capacities since her 2002 appointment, including as the department's chair from 2013 to 2017, then as associate dean. She has served on numerous campus committees, supported many student initiatives and events, and has served as faculty adviser to the Rainbow Alliance and the Black Student Union. Her many awards include a Nuala McGann Drescher Award and a National Endowment for the Humanities summer stipend. Clark holds a bachelor of fine arts and English, and a master of arts in English from Syracuse University, and a Ph.D. in English from Miami University (Ohio). Her teaching and scholarship center on 20th century and contemporary African American and U.S. literature.

Julie Pretzat
Dean, School of Communication, Media and the Arts
Pretzat became dean in 2015 after serving as the school's first associate dean. Previously she chaired Oswego's music department and served as interim chair of theatre. While a music professor, she received the SUNY Chancellor's Award for Excellence in Teaching. She has organized and conducted hundreds of performances by community and college choral groups and has collaborated with college, community and professional choral, musical theater and opera groups throughout Central New York. She has done extensive work at the college in accreditation, academic advisement and creating first-year seminar courses. She holds a bachelor's from Smith College, a master of music from the University of Michigan and a doctor of musical arts from the College-Conservatory of Music at the University of Cincinnati.

Pamela A. Michel
Dean, School of Education
Michel previously served as chair of the curriculum and instruction department and taught in the graduate literacy program. She earned her bachelor's in music and education from Elmira College and a master's and Ph.D. in reading and language arts from Syracuse University. She is the author of the book The Child's View of Reading: Understandings for Teachers and Parents, as well as many other publications contributing to the field of literacy. She has presented widely at local, regional, state, national and international levels throughout her career on issues related to evaluation of reading difficulties, future directions of literacy clinics and children's perceptions of reading.

Jill Pippin
Dean, Extended Learning
Before rejoining Oswego in January 2014, Pippin served for eight years as dean for continuing education at Jefferson Community College. Her career, spanning both academic and business positions such as director for graduate services and enrollment, adjunct business instructor, director of operations, and major accounts manager, as well as her experience earning an MBA from Franklin University, has instilled a passion for providing access to higher education at all levels of the educational pipeline. Previously, the Oswego alumna developed the Jefferson Higher Education Center, facilitated the growth of Jefferson's military services on Fort Drum, and established other innovative and community-oriented programs for adult and non-traditional students. In 2013, she was awarded the 2013 Continuing Education Association of New York's Outstanding Continuing Educator Award.

Richard J. Skolnik
Dean, School of Business
Before becoming dean of Oswego's School of Business, Skolnik served as chair of the accounting, finance and law department and as director of the master's in business administration program. He is a Chartered Financial Analyst and has been involved with the CFA Institute in numerous areas. He has published research articles on investments, higher education pedagogy and financial economics. He has a Ph.D. in managerial economics and a master's degree in operations research and statistics from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and a bachelor's degree in electrical and computer engineering from the University of Michigan.

Commencement Speakers

Mildred García
President, American Association of State Colleges and Universities
Honorary Degree, Doctor of Humane Letters

As president of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities starting in January 2018, Dr. Mildred García is the first Latina to lead any of the six presidentially based higher education associations in Washington, D.C. She also was the first Latina president in the largest system of public higher education in the country, the California State University system, at California State University, Dominguez Hills in 2007.

García went on to serve as president of California State University, Fullerton from 2012 to 2018. Under her leadership, the university saw a 30 percent improvement in six-year graduation rates and a 65 percent improvement in four-year graduation rates for first-time freshmen – both university records. Fullerton, the largest university in the California State system serving more than 40,000 students and having an operating budget of almost a half-billion dollars, also eliminated the achievement gap for transfer students and cut it in half for first-time freshmen. Annual gift commitments nearly tripled. The institution is now number one in California and second in the nation in awarding bachelor's degrees to Hispanics, as well as sixth in the nation in graduating students of color.

President Barack Obama chose García to serve on the President's Advisory Commission on Educational Excellence for Hispanics, and the U.S. Secretary of Education tapped her to serve on the Committee on Measures of Student Success. A first-generation college student, she earned a doctorate in education from Teachers College at Columbia University.

García holds numerous honors, including the American Council on Education's Reginald Wilson Diversity Leadership Award, and was a Distinguished Alumni Honoree of Columbia University. She has held both academic and senior-level positions at several universities nationwide, including Arizona State University, Columbia University, Penn State University, Montclair State University, and The City University of New York.

Jeff Ragovin
Chief Growth Officer and Investor, Social Native LLC and Managing Partner of Ragovin Ventures
Honorary Degree, Doctor of Human Letters

Tech pioneer and industry veteran Jeff Ragovin — a SUNY Oswego alumnus from the class of 2000 — is the chief growth officer of Social Native, a technology platform reinventing how brands create content through people. Social Native develops high-quality, custom content; its business model involves paying talented consumers to create content for the brands they love, as the company aims to bridge the gap between supply and demand to create unparalleled efficiency and scale in the creative industry. He also serves as the founder of Ragovin Ventures, which advises startups with proven methodologies and techniques to scale faster and smarter.

Ragovin was the co-founder of Buddy Media, playing a central role in guiding the company from a start-up into the largest enterprise social marketing suite in the world. Founded in 2007, Buddy Media empowered brands and agencies to organize and control their social marketing programs. Buddy Media also enabled companies to publish content, place and optimize social ads, and measure the effectiveness of social marketing programs. Salesforce acquired Buddy Media in 2012 for $800 million.

Ragovin is often asked to speak on digital marketing at leading industry-wide events including SXSW, Mashable, the Direct Marketing Association, CES, Digital Hollywood, Internet Week, Social Media Week, Mediapost, Dreamforce, IAB, Forbes, Startout and many others. He hosts the "Marketing Mix" podcast, which features some of the world's most influential C-level executives.

Ragovin was born and raised in Manhattan and graduated from Oswego with a bachelor's degree in broadcasting and mass media. He serves on the board of directors for the South Fork Sea Farmers (SFS2), a non-profit that works in partnership with the East Hampton Hatchery to create a sustainable world through aquaculture. SFS2 plays a key role in cleaning waters and providing a sustainable food production system through oyster cultivation and education.

Noreen Falcone
Past President of the U.S. Federal Association - Order of Malta
Honorary Degree, Doctor of Humane Letters

A respected community leader and philanthropist, Noreen Reale Falcone has demonstrated an unwavering devotion to the preservation of human dignity and faith in the human spirit.

Early in her career, as an elementary school teacher in the North Syracuse Central School District, she empowered young people to believe in themselves and to achieve their greatest dreams. In the 1990s, she was invited to join the Order of Malta, the fourth-oldest lay religious order in the Catholic Church, and went on to serve from 2006 to 2009 as the first female president of the U.S. Knights of Malta, one of 59 chapters worldwide in the 900-year history of the international Order of Malta.

Among her current volunteer activities, Falcone is a member of the Board of Trustees at Le Moyne College, a member of the Syracuse Diocese Foundation Board, and a volunteer and an honorary member of the board at Francis House. In the past, she served as president of the Manlius Pebble Hill School board and president of its Board of Trustees, chair of the Central New York Community Foundation, a member of the Board with the New York State Council on the Arts for eight years, and as a trustee of Syracuse Stage, among many other leadership roles.

Her philanthropy has transformed communities in Central New York. She and her husband donated a building valued at $3.3 million to provide Catholic Charities of Oswego County, and related nonprofits, with office space they needed to serve the community. Falcone also provided funding for a building for the Make-A-Wish Foundation in Syracuse. She and her family endowed the Noreen Reale Falcone Library at Le Moyne College to ensure it would be available to students for generations.

Among her many honors are the National Society of Fundraising Executives' Philanthropist of the Year Award, the Order of Malta Grand Cross, Post-Standard Lifetime Achievement Award and Le Moyne College Leadership and Distinguished Alumni awards.

Yvonne Spicer
Mayor of the city of Framingham, Massachuetts
Honorary Degree, Doctor of Humane Letters

Dr. Yvonne Spicer, a 1984 alumna of SUNY Oswego who also earned a master's degree from Oswego in 1985, was sworn in Jan. 1, 2018, as the first mayor of Framingham, Massachusetts, the same day Framingham officially became a city. As the first African-American woman to be popularly elected mayor in the state of Massachusetts, Mayor Spicer is focused on establishing a transparent government that inspires community involvement from all citizens.

A leading national advocate for science, technology, engineering and math (STEM) education, Mayor Spicer previously served as vice president for advocacy and educational partnerships at the Museum of Science, Boston, where she was known for building partnerships in STEM education with policymakers, school districts, municipalities, businesses and non-profit organizations. Prior to that, she was an administrator for Framingham and Newton public schools.

Appointed to the Massachusetts governor's STEM Advisory Council in 2010 by Gov. Deval Patrick, she served as co-chair of the council's Teacher Development Committee; she was re-appointed in 2017 by Gov. Charlie Baker, serving on the Computer Science and Engineering and the Career Pathways committees. Mayor Spicer also served on the Massachusetts Business Roundtable, the Massachusetts Office of the Treasurer Economic Empowerment Trust Fund and on the Standing Committee on Ways and Means. She served as 2018-19 president of the International Technology Engineering Education Association, an organization designed to build capacity for technology and engineering education globally. Mayor Spicer grew up in Brooklyn and has lived in Framingham 32 years.

An extraordinarily active and generous alumna of Oswego, she graduated with a bachelor's in industrial arts and technology and a master's in technology education. She earned her doctorate in educational leadership at University of Massachusetts, Boston. Mayor Spicer was instrumental in establishing the 2001 Massachusetts technology/engineering curriculum framework and the first-ever K-12 assessment for technology and engineering. She has also served as an advisor/content expert to the National Governors Association. Mayor Spicer has been a consultant to numerous states on technology and engineering standards, strategic leadership development and business engagement.

Student Speaker

Eusebio Omar van Reenen '20
President, SUNY Oswego Student Association

A junior double major in biochemistry and political science from Walvis Bay, Namibia, Africa, van Reenen is the first international student to become SA President. He first visited Oswego for the international GENIUS Olympiad high school science, arts and sustainability competition the college hosts, where he received a scholarship to return. He has been a senator and director of diversity, equity and inclusion in the Student Association, a Funnelle Hall Resident Assistant, a Laker Leader for New Student Orientation and University Colleges Representative in the Student Assembly of SUNY, comprised of student governments of all SUNY campuses advocating for more than 1.4 million students on the state and federal level. His active focuses have included sustainability, women's and LGBTQ+ rights, equality, diversity and inclusion of underrepresented and students of color; including spearheading the "Equal Pay for Equal Play" movement for club sports to eliminate the gender-funding gap, implementing free menstrual products in bathrooms across campus; plus leading efforts to eliminate single-use plastics and reduce the carbon footprint of campus operations. He remains committed to using his platform to push the campus forward and grant all Lakers an equal opportunity to thrive.

Abigail Buttacavoli '19
School of Communication, Media and the Arts and School of Education

Buttacavoli, from Albany, graduates with a bachelor's in broadcasting and mass communication with a minor in business administration. At Oswego, she was very active in student organizations and the School of Communication, Media and the Arts. She was news director for the student-run TV station, WTOP 10, president of the National Broadcasting Society Alpha Epsilon Rho and a co-director of the Dr. Lewis B. O'Donnell Media Summit. Buttacavoli has a passion for journalism, and has interned at both Spectrum News in Albany and at CNY Central in Syracuse. This April, she signed her first full-time offer to be a television news reporter at WWNY-TV in Watertown, starting in May.

Shaleena Campbell '19
School of Business

A business administration major, Campbell's leadership positions include president of Chi Alpha Epsilon National Honor Society, treasurer of the Cut the Craft Club, writing tutor and academic peer coach. Thanks to a Jose Ramon CAPA scholarship, she studied abroad in London. This past year, seeking to impact her hometown, she co-founded, with twin sister Zina '19, the Harlem Dress Collective (HDC) nonprofit prom dress drive. With help from Oswego faculty and students, she rasied funds and received other resources to aid in HDC's mission to empower girls in Harlem. Campbell plans to pursue a career in program management, while continuing to run HDC. One day she hopes to use her skills in program management to make HDC her full-time job.

Andre Nichols '19
College of Liberal Arts and Sciences

Nichols, a native of Whitesboro and political science major, is a proud student of the Educational Opportunity Program, where he later became a peer leader. He was a staff member of Vote Oswego before serving as senator at-large, attorney general and senate president pro tempore for the Student Association. Nicholas has been vice president of the Auxiliary Services Board of Directors, and served on numerous Student Association committees and campus committees. A student representative on the Oswego Alumni Association Board of Directors, he also was senior Class of 2019 coordinator intern. Nicholas also interned for the New York State Assembly District 119. He intends to pursue a career in law and public service, focusing on civil rights and civic engagement.

Zina Campbell '19
School of Business

Campbell graduates with a bachelor's in business administration. During her time at Oswego, her leadership roles included vice president of the Cut the Craft Club and the Chi Alpha Epsilon honor society, an Educational Opportunity Program peer leader, a Mentor-Scholar Program mentor and a writing tutor. Her entrepreneurial spirit fueled her to seek opportunities to serve her home community of Harlem, where she co-founded, with twin sister Shaleena '19, the Harlem Dress Collective (HDC), a non-profit that works towards social development of lower-income high school students by providing free prom dresses. In the long run, she plans to use her degree to support her goal of being a business owner; until then, she hopes to work in corporate social responsibility.

SUNY Chancellor's Awards for Student Excellence

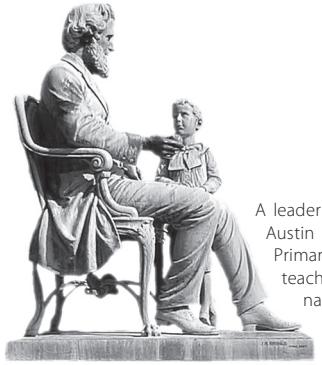
The highest student recognition through the SUNY system, the award recognizes students who earn high grade-point averages and make outstanding contributions to their campus and community.

Manna Job '19
Biology major

The Yonkers native, also minoring in chemistry and psychology, has accomplishments in research, leadership and community service. She won a Best Presenter award at the national Sigma Xi conference in San Francisco, and is preparing a manuscript for that research on how a widely used chemical impacts the environment. Job earned the Dr. Walter Freund Memorial Scholarship, served as a teaching assistant, trained students in lab work, was vice president of the Pre-Health Care Club and served as a College of Liberal Arts and Sciences Advisory Council member. A member of the Alpha Phi Omega service organization, Job volunteered locally and in India and the Philippines.

Joely Rice '19
Broadcasting and mass communication major

Rice has maintained a high cumulative GPA as an all-online student. The IMG model began her career at age five, has appeared in national ads and also was a Sports Illustrated Kid Video Reporter. A role model for girls on social media, she hosts a weekly "Photoshoot with Joely Live" on TikTok, where she has over 600,000 fans, inspiring tweens and teens about life, goals and having fun whatever they do. Rice worked in three internships in New York City through Oswego. This semester, she worked on an independent study to market and create social media content for new apps called Dropchat and Popshop Live.



A leader in education and an advocate of free public schools, Edward Austin Sheldon (1823-1897) was responsible for opening the Oswego Primary Teachers' Training School. Sheldon's pioneering ideas in object teaching became a model for other normal schools throughout the nation and around the world. Sculptor John Frances Brines designed the statue that was constructed with penny contributions from school children throughout the state in 1899.

Jennifer Ofodile '19
Biochemistry major

The Brooklyn resident, who migrated from Nigeria in 2013, has been on the President's List for a perfect GPA in her time at Oswego. She assisted a widely publicized study to remove volatile chemicals from the air with houseplants, winning an American Chemical Society Undergraduate Award in Physical Chemistry. Her honors include the Hubert B. Smith Diversity Award, Peter '75 and Andrea Guglielmo Bocko '73 M'75 Award and the Black Women for Black Girls Development Scholarship. She also has been a member of Phi Kappa Phi honor society; volunteer leader for GENIUS Olympiad; and Educational Opportunity Program teaching assistant and mentor for first-year students.

Dylan Richmond '19
Physics major

Recipient of a SUNY Oswego Possibility Scholarship, the Johnson City native earned his latest honor through challenging research, demanding internship positions and assistance to younger physics students. He has minors in astronomy and computer science. Richmond is first author of a published research article, "Inkjet Printing All Inorganic Halide Perovskite Inks for Photovoltaic Applications." He has another perovskites paper in submission and has a third, on gold-terminated graphene nanoribbons, in progress. The Physics Club president did research in stellar astrophysics at Max Planck Institute in Germany, presented at an American Physical Society conference and earned a National Science Foundation experience at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Possibility Scholars

The Possibility Scholars Awards are presented to the graduating Possibility Scholars in recognition of their accomplishments in the Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics fields throughout their four years as a scholar. Such accomplishments include rigorous laboratory-based summer research projects through the Summer Research Institute and an international service learning experience through the Global Laboratory to study real-world problems such as mitigating climate change, controlling emerging diseases, reducing extreme poverty, developing sustainable energy resources, and wisely managing water and food systems.

College Honors Program

The Oswego College Honors Program consists of a core of courses in the social sciences, humanities, natural sciences, philosophy and history designed to stimulate students' intellectual growth and develop their analytical abilities. Unlike traditional courses, which present material from a single field of study, Honors Program courses are multi-disciplinary, drawing ideas and information from many fields and addressing concerns common to all the disciplines. In addition to Honors core requirements and all the requirements in their majors, Honors Program students must also meet requirements in laboratory science and a foreign language and complete an Honors Thesis, in which they explore a topic in some depth.

The following students from the Class of 2019, wearing silver tassels, are completing the requirements for the SUNY Oswego College Honors Program:

Elizabeth Andrews
Tiffany Baez
Sarah Bailey
Anna Beggel
Lauren Boyce
Conor Breese
Charles Christ
Colleen Curran
Gage Davidson
Mikaela Ditonto
Brian Emigholz
Anais Galvez
Lauren Hardy
Gwendolyn Healy

Honors Programs

Honors Programs have been instituted for outstanding students in the fields of biology, chemistry, economics, history, mathematics, meteorology, physics, political science and psychology. The eligibility requirements for these programs are rigorous and the coursework itself is beyond the scope of that of regular classes. The following students from this class have completed an Honors Program:

Brighton Bernard – Psychology
Bryce Colvin - Psychology
Richard DeMaddis – Chemistry
Tienna DeRoy - Chemistry
Rananjaya Subash Gamage – Chemistry
Jasmine Gomez – Chemistry
Christina Li – Chemistry
Peter Mancarella - Psychology
Jack Marcucci – Biology
Jennifer Ofodile – Chemistry
Grace Roessling – Psychology
Andrew Sommer – Biology
Elizabeth Tirone - Meteorology

College of Liberal Arts and Sciences

The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences is the largest academic division in SUNY Oswego, boasting 18 academic departments, 15 interdisciplinary programs, five graduate programs, and several certificate programs. Providing a learner-centered community committed to high intellectual standards, the college offers more than 40 undergraduate majors in subjects ranging from American studies to zoology, nearly as many minors, and eight cooperative degree programs. Through in-depth study in traditional and interdisciplinary programs, we prepare students to identify and develop productive solutions to the many challenges facing regional, national, and global civil society.

Candidates for Baccalaureate Degree

Subject to completion of all degree requirements, degrees will be conferred upon those individuals listed herein who have met the requirements of their respective degrees in December 2018, May 2019 and August 2019.

In an effort to honor graduating seniors individually, SUNY Oswego selects faculty members to read each graduate's name as they receive congratulations from their dean and the president.

School of Business

To keep pace with a rapidly evolving business world, programs in the School of Business integrate classroom learning with advanced computer applications and various forms of applied education, such as case studies, simulations, group projects and internships. Nationally accredited by AACSB International — the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business — the school offers seven undergraduate majors, a master's of business administration, an MBA health services administration program as well as three five-year combined bachelor's/MBA degree programs, one in accounting, one in broadcasting and mass communication, and one in psychology.

Candidates for Baccalaureate Degree

Subject to completion of all degree requirements, degrees will be conferred upon those individuals listed herein who have met the requirements of their respective degrees in December 2018, May 2019 and August 2019.

In an effort to honor graduating seniors individually, SUNY Oswego selects faculty members to read each graduate's name as they receive congratulations from their dean and the president.

School of Communication, Media and the Arts

The School of Communication, Media and the Arts brings together programs related to the study and creation of messages through art and music, electronically and via the spoken word. The school combines the strengths of fine and performing arts programs in art, music and theatre with the highly diverse department of communication studies. Nine undergraduate degree options and three master's degrees are offered in addition to interdisciplinary majors and minors. Graduates in this division are identified by tri-colored cords representing brown for art and theatre, crimson for communication studies, and pink for music.

Candidates for Baccalaureate Degree

Subject to completion of all degree requirements, degrees will be conferred upon those individuals listed herein who have met the requirements of their respective degrees in December 2018, May 2019 and August 2019.

In an effort to honor graduating seniors individually, SUNY Oswego selects faculty members to read each graduate's name as they receive congratulations from their dean and the president.

The College Mace

School of Education

Innovation in authentic learning has been a hallmark of SUNY Oswego since its founding in 1861. This creative spirit still thrives in the School of Education, where innovative methods grounded in research and early experiences in the field help students become teachers, counselors, school leaders, and wellness and technical professionals ready to meet the challenges of today's global and diverse educational institutions and communities. The school is accredited by the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education.

Division of Extended Learning

The Division of Extended Learning is committed to providing access to high-quality education to people of all ages and stages of life and career. The division works with academic departments to create, deliver and support innovative and responsive credit and non-credit programming to diverse audiences in order to open gateways to new careers, enhance skills or pursue lifelong learning, spanning multiple modalities and locations. Non-traditional and part-time students earning baccalaureate completion degrees online, in the evening, and in blended programs at our Syracuse campus receive the same high quality education as on-campus students while maintaining the ability to balance their personal and professional commitments. Degrees include broadcasting and mass communication, business administration, human development, and public justice.

Division of Graduate Studies

The Division of Graduate Studies hosts more than three dozen graduate programs across all four colleges and schools. Graduate students are able to access these program at our Oswego and Syracuse campuses, online and at certain work sites in the region. We provide an environment that produces the next generation of leaders who are interested in a global mindset, ethical communication and an appreciation for diversity and inclusion.

Candidates for Master's Degree and Certificate of Advanced Study

Subject to completion of all degree requirements, degrees will be conferred upon those individuals listed herein who have met the requirements of their respective degrees.

Graduate degree recipients are hooded by the provost and college or school dean, and receive congratulations from the dean of graduate studies and the president.

Visitor Information

Emergency Assistance
Medical assistance is available on the ground floor in the Marano Campus Center.

University Police
315.312.5555

Lost and Found
Inquiries should be directed to University Police at the phone number listed above.

Restrooms
Restrooms are on all Marano Campus Center levels. Ground floor restrooms are in the main lobby; second-level facilities serve upper seating.

Refreshments
Refreshments are not permitted on the arena floor. However, refreshments are available before and during the ceremony at Crossroads on the upper level of the Marano Campus Center.

College Store
Fresh flowers, frames and an assortment of emblematic clothing and merchandise will be available before and after the ceremonies in the concourse of the Marano Campus Center.

Reception
All graduates, family members, guests, faculty and staff are invited to attend a reception north of the Convocation Center immediately following each ceremony.

Photographs and Videotaping
Audience videotaping and photography are permitted only from seats. We plan to post a recorded version of the ceremonies after the events on the college's YouTube channel, www.youtube.com/sunyoswegovideo. A professional photographer will be present at the ceremony. Graduates will be emailed a link from the photography company to view their photos. Graduation pictures can be ordered online at www2.geneseephoto.com/welcome.

Notice to Audience Members
Our commencement ceremony may be taped and broadcast via TV, radio, and/or the internet in both live and delayed time formats. By attending this event, you are granting permission to have your likeness or image and your voice broadcast without restriction and without right of inspection or approval. Entrance into the event grants permission for your likeness or image to be used without remuneration and releases the campus and its representatives from all claims and liability relating to these broadcasts or their reuse.

Departure
Audience is to remain seated until all graduates, faculty and platform party recess.

Hail OSWEGO

Voices fill the air

Singing reverently

Pledging our school fair

Truth and loyalty

This our song we raise

In her name and praise

Oswego, Alma Mater

Hail to thee!
