

PronouncePerfect

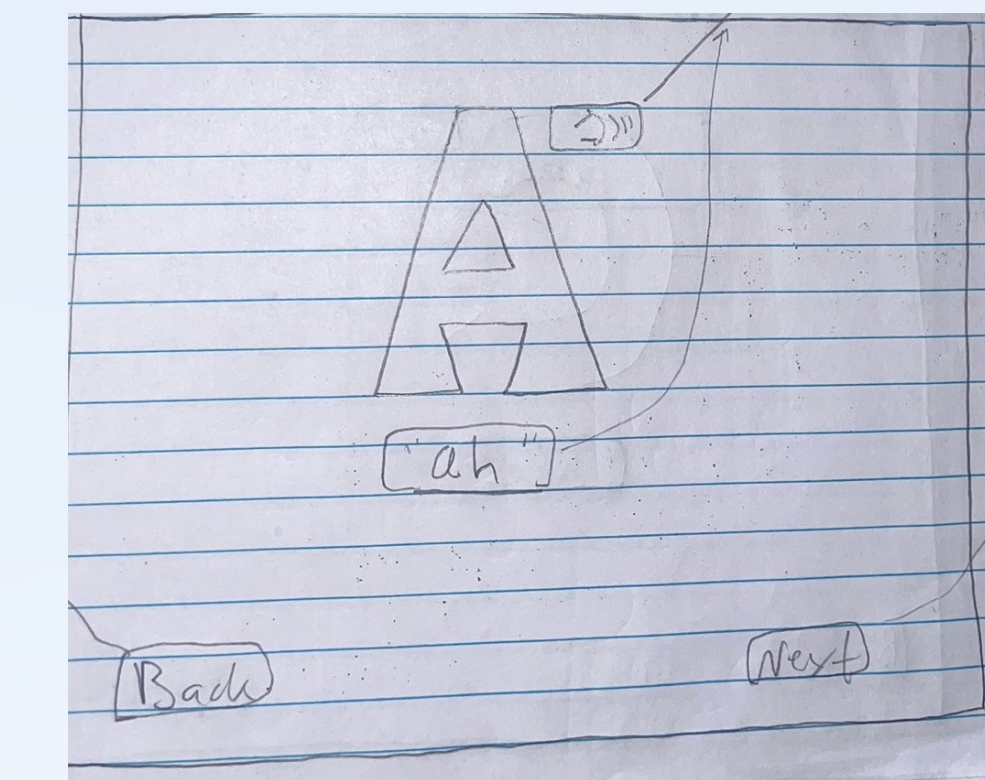

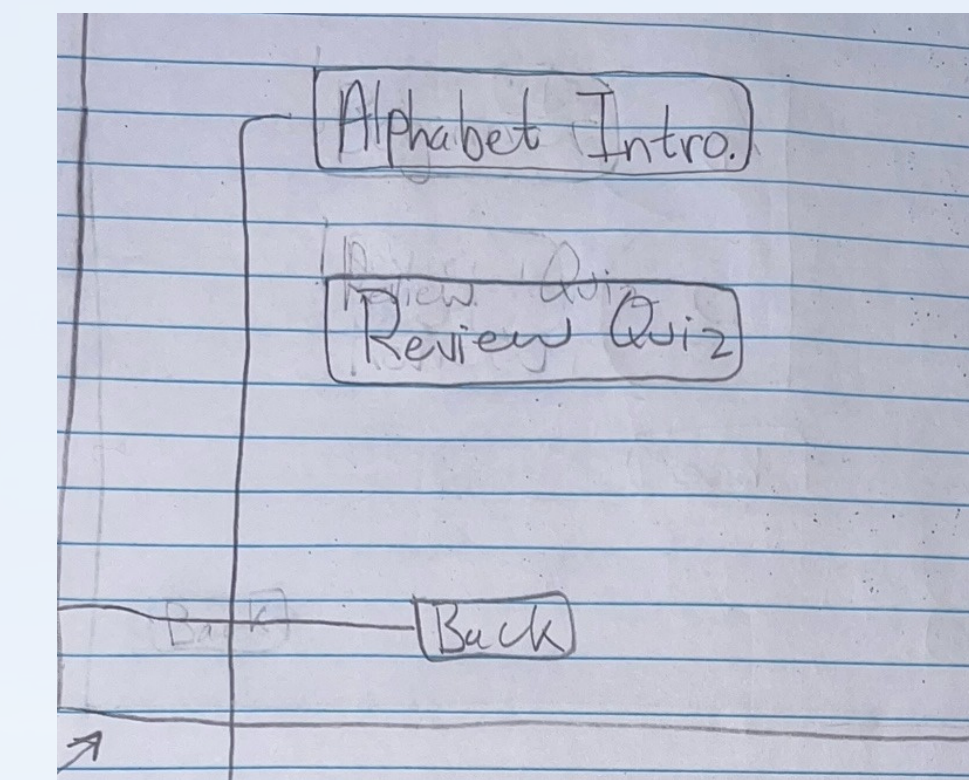

Designed and Researched by Arthur Oakley
 Advisement Provided by Dr. Jolanda Tromp

Initial Wireframe:

Initially, PronouncePerfect was intended to only serve as an alphabet pronunciation guide. However, after the initial wireframe, and further consideration the scope was broadened to include letter combinations. The scope was again broadened to add a common phrase list - for additional user benefit.

A (ah)
 B (bee)
 C (chee)
 D (dee)
 E (eh)
 F (ehf-feh)
 G (jee)
 H (ahk-kah)
 I (ee)
 L (ehl-eh)
 M (ehm-meh)

N (ehn-neh)
 O (o)
 P (pee)
 Q (koo)
 R (ehr-reh)
 S (ehs-seh)
 T (tee)
 U (oo)
 V (voo)
 Z (zeta)

PronouncePerfect is a proposed mixed reality application that seeks to serve as a tool for language learners. The application focuses on familiarizing language learners with the sounds inherent within a given language.

PronouncePerfect seeks to:

- Educate language learners on language specific sounds - including alphabets and specific, relevant letter combinations
- Establish basis for improved comprehension of language learners
- Improve the confidence of language learners using the application

Initial Digital Prototype:

Before undergoing name and scope alterations, the initial prototype featured limited functionality and limited options for study.

Broadening of Scope:

After numerous discussions with multi-lingual friends and acquaintances, I opted to broaden the scope of PronouncePerfect to include resources for learning and studying common Italian sounds and common Italian phrases

Developmental Iterations

PronouncePerfect has undergone a great deal of change throughout its numerous iterations to this point in development. The name of the program itself and the scope of the program have been changed considerably as a result of careful consideration, advising, and user feedback.

Branding

PronouncePerfect was initially called LaPronuncia! and then subsequently RumorA - in favor of a shorter, more memorable name. However, the name has ultimately been changed to PronouncePerfect. This is in an effort to be more approachable and appealing to an English speaking audience. speaking market. The name also better reflects the purpose of the program itself.

Current Digital Prototype:

Currently, the prototype features three options of study for users. The program offers a basic alphabet introduction, letter combination pronunciation guide, and a common phrase introduction and study guide.
