•Investing in Forex is not the easiest thing in the world.

• New traders benefit from a fast and reliable source of signals to earn while they learn

• Having a easier to handle system will save less tech-savy users

• Being able to have the real time knowledge if a signal is still valid to enter is crucial as you could enter the wrong trade and jeopardize your account

• This is a difficult concept for some beginner users to understand and a simple color coding of some sort on the signal can be a clear indication if the signal is still valid to enter
